

ISLE Online Forum 2023

Replication and Replicability

isLE

November 22: 8am Freiburg | 5pm Brisbane
<https://tinyurl.com/isle-forum-replication>

Joseph Flanagan
University of Helsinki

Lukas Sönning
Otto-Friedrich-Universität Bamberg

Martin Schweinberger
University of Queensland |
Arctic University of Norway

This online event on replication and reproducibility in English linguistics centres around questions such as:

- What is reproducibility, and is there a replication crisis in English linguistics?
- Why is replication important and how can I make my research more transparent?
- Why should researchers who use qualitative approaches care about reproducibility and replication?
- What are the implications of replication and reproducibility for researchers in English linguistics?

Special focus is given to the relevance of transparency and data sharing as well as practical solutions.

Watch recordings of previous events via ISLE's YouTube channel (www.youtube.com/@isle2008)